

Financial Wellness Program

Free workshops on the money decisions you are already making.

9.0/10

would recommend it to a friend, spring exit survey

70%+

came back for more than one session, with no grade

6

workshops this year, fall through spring

$0

to attend, open to every major

Nobody teaches you how to read a lease, price a loan, or fix a credit report that has something wrong on it. This program does, in plain language, from practitioners who do the work. Sessions run in person in Nongshim Lab and live on Zoom. Nothing is graded and nothing costs anything.

The year at a glance

FALL 2026 · HAPPENING NOW

1. Budgeting, Cash Flow & Money Traps

Tue, October 6 · 1:30–3:00 PM

2. Debt: The Good, the Bad and the Ugly

Thu, October 15 · 1:30–3:00 PM

Both fall sessions led by Bruce Bolkin, Esq., CPA

SPRING 2027 · FOUR MORE

4 more workshops

Four more hybrid sessions in the spring term, in person and live on Zoom, counting toward the same Certificate of Participation.

Topics and dates announced at the start of the spring term

Two things you can earn

1 Certificate of Participation

Attend any 4 of the 6 workshops across fall and spring and complete the in-session activities.

2 Outreach Volunteer

Finish the certificate, then log service hours teaching financial literacy at community events.

IT DOES NOT STOP AT CAMPUS

Most people never get this information at all. Students who finish the program can take it to community engagement events across Los Angeles and sit down with residents who are working through the same decisions.

QUESTIONS

Dr. Gökhan Kumpas, Coordinator
gkumpas@calstatela.edu

COLLEGE OF
BUSINESS AND ECONOMICS

Next up: Tuesday, October 6 and Thursday, October 15 · 1:30–3:00 PM · Nongshim Lab